Description of WEF Awards

WEF Arthur Sidney Bedell Award

To acknowledge extraordinary personal service to the member Associations, the Arthur Sidney Bedell Award was established in 1948. Each Member Association is privileged to name one of its members to receive this award, which may be based on organizational leadership, administrative service, membership activity, stimulation of technical functions, or similar participation.

The award is named for the second president of the Federation who exemplified its purpose by his long devotion and service to the New York Sewage and Industrial Wastes Association, now the New York Water Pollution Control Association.

WEF William D. Hatfield Award

The purpose of the William D. Hatfield Award is to recognize members who are operators of water pollution control facilities and are doing an outstanding job in performance of their duties as well as to operators demonstrating distinguished professionalism. The aspects of plant operation on which the award is based serve these purposes:

- Encourage better public relations between the plant operator and the public.
- Recognize outstanding reports, which serve the requirements of the operator's superior officials and provide a basis for recommendations by the operator for improvement to his plant for better efficiency of treatment and economy of operation.
- Recognize business-like accounting of expenditures of funds and care of treatment plant and accessories entrusted to the operator.
- Advancement of the art and knowledge of wastewater treatment by dissemination to other engineers and operators the basic information and data concerning a particular plant and process through papers, articles, meetings and reports.

WEF Laboratory Analyst Excellence Award
